Chapter 1 by Lex

Sunde Iru Shima: The Living Islands, they are what our world has become. All these years we spent living on earth and we never saw the signs that it was a real, living being. You put your ear to the ground and you can hear her steady heartbeat, you put your hand on the ground and you feel her warmth. Then you look around and you see what we have created on this beautiful planet, and you realize just how tainted and ruined she is, and we continue to watch her die, pollution, ozone depletion...what do we do to save her?
